SOME THINGS WELL SAID BY OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"A proper history of any place in which people have been born and died, struggled, failed and succeeded, has to be lived before it can be written; lived not necessarily in the flesh, but in the imagination which reaches backward to the past and forward to the future, in the awareness of ancestral tradition, and with a valid inner knowledge in partnership with research."

-Faith Baldwin in The New Canaan Historical Society Annual, 1949

"Perhaps an interest in local history is the inalienable right of no man. But a good many people have it and some at least would hate to part with it. At times interest is too mild a word, passion or obsession would be better. But if obsession it is, certainly it is a harmless one and one from which enjoyment may be derived. Sometimes sceptics go farther and call it a disease. If we humor them they at least must admit that the attack of the virus manifests itself in divers ways. So we have the genealogical or family historian, and the collector of firsts - the first settler, the first church, or the first square silo -, on through to those who are interested in all aspects of the development of their community. One thing is certain: the disease is seldom cured until the victim is past cure.

"Nor can any of the combinations and permutations found among local historians afford to scoff at the others. If their work is careful and accurate all may be of service. Most genealogists, for instance, are aware that more intolerant brethren regard them as little more than inquisitive old maids. There is no record that the knowledge ever deterred an ardent genealogist from his or her pursuit of all the fallen leaves from the family tree which was his or her current interest. That is well, since some of the most valuable work done in separating fact from the fiction that grew up about Abraham Lincoln was of a genealogical nature." -A. G. Bogue, in Robert Brunt and the Writing of Local History, Western Ontario Historical Notes, Dec. 1950.

"Anyone who has planted a garden ten feet square knows that to bring the simplest vegetables to maturity requires toil. Nature is lavish with her gifts of rain and sunshine but she doesn't care what prospers - weed or bugs - so long as there is activity.

"It is all right to offer prayers of gratitude to nature, but it is the endless generations of our human forebears, reaching back through centuries of time, who brought about the comfortable existence that is possible today."

-William Feather in The Imperial Magazine, May 1951

"The expression 'horse and buggy days' is coming to mean as definite a period of American history as the Civil War Days. It generally means the latter half of the 1800s, passing only when the motor car outdistanced its champion in speed and popularity. It stands not only for the quiet years before the storm of electricity and gasoline broke upon the land but for a time when folks were happy in making something out of nothing, having a good time even though staying home occasionally, walking the face of the earth and loving it, seeing a buggy-ride as an event each Sunday afternoon, and feeling the warmth of summer sun and the boon of moonlight as something to be taken slowly and with quietness."

-Marion Nicholl Rawson in Handwrought Ancestors, 1936

"In a way this book (People Named Smith) is a sort of genealogical project. One of its aims is to furnish the Smiths with some things to boast about. And it seems to me that during the digging period a million specific Smiths have come beneath my hand. To get at them I exposed myself to the equivalent of a liberal education, for the trail led into every boulevard and back alley of human endeavor. I found myself reading extensively in physics, chemistry, history, navigation, mythology, religion, biography, athletics, finance, rail-roading, exploration, the cult of flying-saucerism, carpetmaking, heraldry, etiquette, and the origin of the mule train.... The spoor of Smith is discernible in almost every avenue of history. The range of the Smiths covers every octave and every note of the social scale."

-H. Allen Smith, People Named Smith, 1950

REPORT OF MEETINGS

"Williamsburg Restored" a forty-five minute color sound film, brought to the large turn-out at the February 9 meeting an intimate, visual acquaintance with this unique recreation of the daily lives of our colonial ancestors. While conditions differed greatly between the various Colonies, only in Williamsburg is it possible today to see on a large scale a living embodiment of the life of the times. The history of the restoration was given interestingly, and contrasts between the town of thirty years ago and today were illuminatingly presented. The focus of interest was the immense labor of the process of restoration itself, painstakingly and lovingly detailed - and still in process. Sequence pictures showing rooms, houses, and scenes "before and after," were climaxed by an intensive treatment of the Brush-Everard House, showing its many changes of design over the centuries, to its present form - fully restored to its early design, and size. Research, planning, architectural and interior decorating problems, world-wide quest for items to match those which existed in the colonial town - all are given due attention. A balanced over-all perspective is given by the editing and commentary, with even the contemporary accommodations for visitors and the pleasant, well-informed attractively costumed guides shown as they take visitors through the buildings. Williamsburg is presented as a living museum, consciously preserving in every practical detail, the memory of a great past. This film is a delightful recall to memory for those of us who have been there and should tease many others into planning a Williamsburg trip.

Reminiscing on his visit across the river to see the new English Sovereign last fall, Roy McFee brought out that she has nineteen American (Virginia) ancestors, through lines resident here for a century, and is a second cousin seven times removed to George Washington. (N.Y. Gen. & Biog. Record., 1939, pp. 201-206.)

The inside story of the work behind publication of a genealogy was presented at the March 8 meeting by DSGR member, Dr. Richard Dyer Mudd, author of the new encyclopedia-sized, 1461 paged "THE MUDD FAMILY IN THE U.S." Many years of intensive research and compilation went into this work, which was aided by an Air Force assignment during the war, that sent Dr. Mudd into Texas, Denver, Washington, etc. where he invariably discovered complements of Mudds to enroll and record. A devoted sister-in-law - a typist - also worked four years on the project. Many people that could not be effectively reached by correspondence were visited personally and as in any large family, individuals of all conditions, of low and high estate were found. Publicity was secured by taking every opportunity to speak on the project, and obtain reviews of the book. Called again into the service, Dr. Mudd worked on the index in cold aeroplanes while flying from one inspection post to another and devoted all his evening hours to the index dodging bridge dates with the generals.

Dr. Mudd gave many tips that should be helpful to others. Home-made inquiry forms create less suspicion in the minds of recipients than do printed ones. Careful accounting of all expenses should be kept from the beginning. While these cannot be charged off the income tax until publication, they may then be deducted over a seventeen year period. A directory of current family addresses should be kept although this takes a great deal of labor. Secure a list of cemeteries in the area in which you are interested and with a small fee enclosed write asking for a list of all of the family name in that cemetery.

The cost of such a publication is very heavy, over $6,000 prepublication expense and over $10,000 publication costs. Some good sources for data were the Univ. of Maryland Archives; Mt. St. Mary's, near Frederick, Md.; Society of Jesus Archives, Woodstock, Md. (especially good source of Catholic records); Washington Cathedral (Episcopal records); Texas State Library (newspapers before 1900).

IN MEMORY Josephine Beard Heywood was born March 3, 1871, daughter of Horace Philbrick and Frances (Shattuck) Beard. Graduating from Oberlin College in 1894, she taught in Boston Public schools and Fiske University. Soon after her marriage in 1903 to Arthur Heywood she came to Detroit where her children were born. After her husband's early decease, she had charge of the filing systems of several large firms among them Studebaker and Ford Motor Co. of Highland Park. Her death, February 29, 1952, left surviving two sons, Horace M. and Erwin and a grand-son, H. Milton Heywood. She was a charter member of our Society.

CERTAIN DESCENDANTS OF ELECTIOUS REYNOLDS AND MARY PEASE
Contributed by D. H. Reynolds Page

Alexis Renoll was born in the year 1653, probably on the Island of Jersey. He appeared for the first time in the records of New England when he took the oath of allegiance in Salem, 1678. He married Mary Pease, a daughter of John Pease, July 16, 1686, and they lived near the village where two or three children were born to them.

About the year 1690 Alexis took his family south to the town of Middleborough. Even before he had left Salem his name had begun to undergo a change. From Electius Ranals in Salem records, it became Electius Rennels when he bought land in Middleborough in 1711. In due course his name became Electious Reynolds in the town records.

Electious was one of the founders of the Congregational Church of Lakeville (1725). It was then a part of Middleborough. The church was known as the Precinct Church. For his services in King Philip's War he received a grant of land in the town of Greenwich in western Massachusetts. This was apparently taken up by his grandsons and may tend to explain the movement of the family to old Hampshire County where they became residents of Shutesbury, Orange and New Salem. The old gentleman, Electious, died in Middleborough, in 1738, "aged 85 years."

Only three persons besides the founder have borne the extraordinary name of Electious. These were his son, born in 1706, a grandson, Electious III, Revolutionary War veteran, and a great-grandson, Electious Reynolds Randall.

Joshua-3 Reynolds was born in Middleborough, Massachusetts, December 31, 1740. He married Mary Newhall, May 31, 1768, in New Salem, Mass. They were residents of Shutesbury in 1772, where they owned land. In 1781 Joshua purchased 100 acres of land for 55 pounds from Abel Merriman in Wells, Vermont, where he moved his family which consisted of his wife and two or three children. In 1784 he was chosen surveyor of highways at the town meeting, and in September, 1790, he was made a Freeman. He died in 1820 and was buried in a plot on his farm.

The following Affidavit verifies the location of the graves of Joshua-3 Reynolds and Mary (Newhall) Reynolds, his wife, on the farm burial plot in Wells, Vermont. The graves are unmarked.

"We, FRANK WELTER, and LEVI PRATT, SR., residents of the Town of Wells, County of Rutland, State of Vermont, being first duly sworn, do depose and say, that, to the best of our knowledge and belief there are at least two graves located in a small piece of ground, or knoll, upon the old Reynolds Farm generally known as the Sennett farm, now owned by Harvy Haskins of Wells. And to the best of our knowledge and belief this is the same burying ground that is described in Book I, page 555, of the Town Clerk's Records of Wells, the deed from Palmer Reynolds to Stephen Burton, dated 1826, in which Joshua Reynolds' son, Palmer, conveyed the farm "with the exception of a small piece which is reserved for a burying ground in which my honored parents are buried, supposed about ten rods."

And I, FRANK WELLER, do depose and say that on Thursday morning, June 22, 1944, I accompanied D. H. Reynolds Page of Huntington Woods, Michigan, to the old Reynolds farm located on the Brook Road, about three miles east of the village of Wells, Vermont. And I designated a certain area on said farm which I had been told by persons many years ago was an old burying ground. And I further depose and say that the size of this small piece is approximately ten square rods, the corners being marked by remnants of heaps of stones. The graves are located upon rising ground south of the old home, upon a slight knoll.

Frank Weller
Levi S. Pratt, Sr."

Sworn before Mary Lobdell, Notary, Aug. 10, 1944.

On July 13, 1820, the will of Joshua Reynolds was probated at Fairhaven, Vt., as follows:

THE IDENTITY OF HANNAH AINSWORTH, WIFE OF ERASTUS ADAMS OF LEVERETT, MASS.

Contributed by Frederick Warner
North Amherst, Mass.

Capt. William (3) Ainsworth, (Edward(2), (1)), was born July 12, 1734, died Nov. 14, 1815, Wales, Mass. and married May 29, 1755, Mary Marcy, according to The History of Woodstock by Clarence W. Bowen, 1830, Volume II. Two of their seven children were Laban, born July 19, 1757, and Oliver, born March 3, 1773, Woodstock. Capt. William Ainsworth moved from Woodstock to Leverett, Mass., and in 1802 to Wales, Mass.

Oliver Ainsworth graduated from Harvard College in 1794 and on October 23, 1794, married Hannah Marcy. They had a son, Thomas, born in Woodstock June 16, 1795 and in 1796 they moved to South Brimfield, Mass. In 1797, Oliver Ainsworth disappeared and was never heard from. The son Thomas lived with his Ainsworth grandparents in Wales and after marriage went to Pennsylvania.

Oliver Ainsworth's brother, Rev. Laban, was living in Jaffrey, N.H., on May 7, 1799 when he purchased land in Leverett. A Hannah Ainsworth was one of the witnesses to the deed. She was no doubt, the sister-in-law of Rev. Laban and widow of Oliver Ainsworth. Hannah and her young son, Thomas, were very probably living with her father-in-law, Capt. William Ainsworth.

Now the Genealogical History of Henry Adams of Braintree, Mass., 1898, by Andrew N. Adams, states that Erastus(6)Adams (Nathan(5), Thomas(4), John(3), Edward(2), Henry(1)), was born Feb. 24, 1770, Leverett; died Aug. 13, 1856, Leverett and married Dec. 1802, at Leverett, Hannah Ainsworth of Woodstock, Connecticut. Who was this Hannah Ainsworth?

Capt. Stephen Marcy had a daughter, Hannah, born Dec. 24, 1770, who married Oliver Ainsworth of South Brimfield and died Jan. 26, 1836, in Brighton, Ohio. (Woodstock History, Vol. VII, p. 352). Jonathan(4)Marcy, (Israel(3), John(2), (1)), and wife Hannah Stone had a dau. Hannah born "say 1774" who married ---Adams, according to the same authority. (p. 316) Jonathan Marcy died in Woodstock April 5, 1822 and his will, dated Feb. 8, 1822, on file in the Connecticut State Library, Hartford, names his daughter Hannah Adams.

Hannah (Ainsworth) Adams died in Leverett on Aug. 3, 1862 and her gravestone reads "aged 85 yrs." Hannah, the daughter of Capt. Stephen Marcy would have been 91 years old in 1862, but Hannah, the daughter of Jonathan Marcy could well have been born in 1777 instead of "say 1774."

Erastus and Hannah Adams named their third child William Ward Adams, after Erastus' mother Sybil Ward and named their fourth child Charles Marcy Adams, very probably after Hannah's family name.

From these facts it seems apparent that the Woodstock History has transposed the two Hannah Marcy's and that the Hannah Ainsworth who married Erastus Adams of Leverett, Mass., was the widow of Oliver Ainsworth of Wales, Mass., and daughter of Jonathan Marcy and wife Hannah Stone of Woodstock, Connecticut.

1312: C-48: FORD-GREENSLIT:- Abigail Ford who married James Pease was the daughter of Joseph Ford and Elizabeth Hovey. Their marriage date has not been found but she is called Abigail Pease in her father's will dated Jan. 1, 1757 and at the settlement of his estate on July 17, 1758, both she and her husband signed for their share.

Joseph Ford died June 18, 1758. In 1735 at Windsor he deposed that he was then 55 yrs. of age, hence born in 1680. The Ford Genealogy by E. R. Ford (1916) says that our Joseph was the son of Nathaniel Ford of Weymouth, but his son Joseph was born Oct. 31, 1700, at which time our Joseph was 20 years old.

Joseph Ford m. (1) at Ipswich, Mass. on Feb. 13, 1704/5, Elizabeth Hovey, b. March 25, 1681/2, daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah (Fuller) Hovey: granddaughter of Daniel & Abigail (Andrews) Hovey and of John & Elizabeth (Emerson) Fuller - all of Ipswich. The date of migration to Connecticut is unknown but daughters Sarah and Elizabeth were baptised at Ipswich. Elizabeth (Hovey) Ford died at Windham Sept. 10, 1754. Joseph Ford m. (2) April 23, 1755 Mrs. Sarah (Rix) Greenslit, widow of John Greenslit of Preston, Conn., and daughter of James and Margaret(---) Rix. Sarah Rix was bapt. at Salem, Mass. in August 1688.

Birth dates of ten children of Joseph and Elizabeth Ford are listed in the Vital Records at Williamantic, Conn., as follows:

Joseph Ford, b. June 20, 1705
 Nathaniel Ford, b. June 3, 1707
 Sarah Ford, b. March 1710; d. Sept. 1713
 Elizabeth Ford, b. Dec. 20, 1712
 Sarah Ford, b. Dec. 20, 1714
 Abigail Ford, b. June 12, 1719
 Mary Ford, b. April 6, 1717
 John Ford, b. April 6, 1717
 Kesia Ford, b. March 27, 1721
 Hannah Ford, b. September 9, 1723.

This query was also answered by another member, who adds something in the way of the location of the families and gives Joseph Ford's will.

The family of Joseph Ford lived in the section called Windham Village or Canada parish, now known as Hampton, Conn. The will of Joseph Ford was made Jan. 1, 1757 and approved July 7, 1758. It mentions his wife Sarah, dau. Abigail Pees (Pease) of Summers (Somers); sons, Joseph Ford, and John Ford of Somers. Other children were: Elizabeth Woodward (who was deceased by 1758), Sarah Farnham, wife of Joshua Farnham, Abigail Pees, wife of James (mentioned above), Kesiah Farnham wife of Manasseh Farnham, Mary Preston wife of John of Ashford, Hannah Rogers wife of Josiah Rogers of Ashford, and Nathaniel Ford.

1302: M-13: ARSNOE:- I believe this name is of the Canadian family of Arsenault who were early settlers on Prince Edward Island, and now widely diffused. I would suggest that from the date of Peter Arsnoe's migration to New York state he may have been involved in the Canadian Patriot rebellion and the Dominion Archive files may furnish information in that respect. A great many Canadians found it necessary to leave Canada at that time.

1252: K-8: ANDREWS-FULLER-COMSTOCK:- Not an answer, but a suggestion. Is it possible that the Andrews brothers were desc. of Ammi Andrews (1737-1833), b. Ipswich, Mass., d. Hillsboro, N.H.? 1323: W-53: CHERRY VALLEY MASSACRE: A partial list of those killed at Cherry Valley is to be found in Benjamin Lossing's "Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution," pages 268-269, Vol. 1. It there states the total to be 48 victims, of which, 32 were civilians. Forty others were made prisoner but most of these were released the following day. Some of the killed were among the prisoners and included in the previous total of 48. Lossing wrote some 68 years after the event. His principal informant was the Hon. James S. Campbell, who as a boy of six years of age was one of the prisoners taken to Niagara and held there for a number of years. The partial list follows: Robert Wells

Mrs. Robert Wells	Mrs. Mitchell
Mrs. Wells Sr. (mother of Robt.)	Four Mitchell children
John Wells (brother of Robt.)	Mrs. Cannon (killed when a
Jan Wells (sister of Robt.)	prisoner. Mother of
Mrs. Dunlap (mother of Mrs. Robt. Wells)	Mrs. Campbell, one of the prisoners.)

The above are all that can be identified in the text of Lossing's account as killed at Cherry Valley.

The prisoners retained and taken to Niagara were held as hostages for the exchange of the Col. John Butler family then held by the Continental forces. An interesting side-light is that a Miss Moor, one of the prisoners, while held at Niagara married a Mr. Powell, a British officer. In the massacre the only survivor in the Wells family was one son John, who was absent at school in Schenectady.

CORRECTIONS & ADDITION

DETROIT SOCIETY FOR GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH MAGAZINE: Vol. 12, No. 1, p. 6. Sept-Oct. 1948. James J. Polk was not President of the United States. It was James Knox Polk son of Samuel and Jane Knox Polk of Tennessee. Samuel was the son of Ezekiel and Mary Wilson Polk and one of ten children. Ezekiel was said to have married three times - once (probably last) to a widow, Sophia Lennard, and his home was in N.C. Some accounts have Ezekiel as the son of Thomas Polk of Mecklenburg but there is better proof that he was the son of William and Margaret Taylor. Confusion results from the fact that they also had a son William, Ezekiel's brother, who had sons Thomas and Ezekiel but that Ezekiel died in 1791 while the dates for Ezekiel, grandfather of President Polk were 1747-1824. His son Samuel, father of Pres. Polk died in 1827 in Columbia, Tenn. He married Jane Knox in 1794 and they had ten children. References are the Hist. of Mecklenburg, N.C. Vol. 1, p. 69 and chapter 39 as well as Vol. 2, p. 199. Also Compendium of Am. Geneal. Vol. 3, p. 431.

"It seemed that the best thing America produces is an American. As most of our history is written at present, it might seem that the product of the field and of the mine, rather than that of the American home, makes America." So says Dr. Mudd in the preface to his big book on the Mudd family. W. K. Kelsey, the Commentator of the Detroit News devoted a whole column to The Mudd Family on February 3rd, proving what genealogists so well know, that an American family produces a great variety of interesting people and incident. . . Mr. Blount in Chicago for a convention, visited Newberry and noted our Magazine, complete with index, nicely bound. Librarians Jos. Wolf and Evans were thrilled at the fine work done on our 1820 census. . .

Mrs. John E. Hebel, now of Daytona Beach, Fla., invites any of our members who come that way, to visit her. She has been active in the formation of the Halifax Historical Society in the Halifax River region of Florida, which recently put on a four day jubilee in observance of the incorporation of Daytona. Mrs. H. is also collecting Volusia Co. records. We are pointing our finger at you, Mrs. Hebel, as an example of how to be busy, happy and useful although retired from the snows of Michigan. . . Our Mrs. John Wood McArthur has been appointed Dean of Women at Marlboro College at Marlboro, Vt., where her late husband was Dean of the College. . . Miss Leona Weir sends in a praiseful word for Mrs. Pruitt, who has helped some of us with searches in Washington. . . Mrs. Keil is traveling in the south, looking at old newspapers in New Orleans and rejoicing because Canadian currency exchange now facilitates travel between our two countries. . . Sympathy to our Mrs. Sperry, who lost her sister, Mrs. Flora Reinhardt, February 23, in an auto accident. . .

Our member Walter Glenn Scott recently made gift to the Society of "The Russell Healey Lucas Mayflower Lineage," a very large series of charts tracing back twenty four lines to ancestors who came to America on the Mayflower. Copies were sent to eight other libraries and genealogical societies. "The reason we are recording and spreading this information is because the family is a large one and it opens opportunities for Mayflower lineages to many who are collaterals with the Lucas family." Since so large a number of these lines for one individual, is something of a record and because it illustrates so well the fact that many of the Mayflower passengers may be ancestors through several lines, we reproduce the list here.

Two lines to John Alden and Priscilla Mullins	Three lines to Edward Doty and Faith
One line to John Howland and Elizabeth Tilley	One line to John Tilley
Three lines to Francis Cooke and Hester Mahieu	One line to John Billington
Five lines to Richard Warren and Elizabeth Jouat	One line to Dr. Samuel Fuller
Two lines to William Mullins and Alice	One line to Francis Easton
Three lines to Stephen Hopkins	One line to Samuel Eaton

We now have a member in Korea, John Clinton Harris, U. S. Army. . . Mrs. Emma F. Gerald, one of our new members is Regent of Major Isaac Sadler Chap. DAR in Omaha. She is a friend of our Miss Byrdee Needham, who is librarian of the same chapter. . . D. L. Morse of Blue Earth, Minn., is interested in some Washtenaw Co., Mich. families. . . Mrs. Louis Longcore of Lawrence, Mich. is a "clearing house" for all CONKLIN(Conkling, etc.) information. Have you any among your lines? . . The fame of our Mr. Warner, expert on wives, has been recognized. He has been sent a list of 43 wives by a hopeful subscriber, with the promise that he will be paid $5 for each one he can identify. . . Some of us recognize the early Michigan family whose history is related by Margo in the Experience Column of the Detroit News of January 25. Who is Margo? . . Through the kindly efforts of Mrs. Elizabeth Walters, the Society has received the Bulletin of the Bradford Family Compact. Mrs. W. is busy compiling the History of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church (Monroe Co. Pa.) for its 200th Anniversary in June 1952. . . A new member Mabel Wood Smith, sends us a copy of The Quarterly Bulletin of the Old Town of Mamaroneck Historical Society, which she edits. She also conducts a class in genealogical research. . . Another new member, George H. Hathaway bears the first name of our indispensable corresponding secretary's grandfather and brother but is, alas, no relation. . .

The Town Talk column of the Detroit News on February 18, was dedicated to Miss Gracie Krum, first librarian of the Burton Historical Collection and Secretary for twenty years of the Detroit Historical Society. After cataloging and arranging Mr. Burton's Collection, "she set out to develop a climate of interest (in history) among the people of Detroit." Not only was she the Mother of the Historical Society, she might be said to have been the Big-Sister of the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research, a charter member and now an honorary member.
